

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This research provides conclusion of analysis of language functions through the dialogue in Finding Dory Movie and suggestion for the students and future researcher.

A. Conclusion

The researcher takes some conclusions of types of language function and its application in language functions that occur in Finding Dory movie based on research finding and discussion in chapter IV. Here the researcher concludes that language function can be found in movie.

The researcher used several steps to complete an analysis of language functions found in Finding Dory movie. First step is the researcher transcribing the oral data into the written data. Then, determine the character's utterances containing with language functions. Applying the theories related to the problem and anything needed based on the purpose of the study. In this case, the researcher uses Roman Jakobson's theory to identify the language function used in Finding Dory movie. The last, interpreting the utterance to find its function. The researcher found six types of language functions that emerged, such as: emotive, conative, phatic, poetic, referential, and metalingual function.

After analyzing the types of language functions, the researcher find what the most dominant of language functions found that used in Finding Dory movie. The most dominant in research aim is to facilitate a person if they want know the main character condition. To find the most dominant of language functions, the researcher did some stages. The first stage isto find and understand the meaning contain with language functions, then the researcher calculate the types of language functions most emerging, the largest number that appears is what can be considered as the most dominant of language functions. The most dominant of language functions that used in Finding Dory movie is emotive functions.

The finding of this study showed the calculating of language functions, they are: 26 emotive, 19 referential, 18 phatic, 12 conative, 12 metalingual and 8 poetic.

Emotivefunction becomes the dominant types of language function used in Finding Dory movie. Emotive function is used dominantly, because in Finding Dory, Dory always work together with her friends. In additional Dory have many friends who always help her when she wants to find her parents. In this movie, every cast often using emotive function because in dialogue theyoften uses informal language, and they tend to use an emotive function to show their feelings, whether it happiness or their sadness and even their like or dislike to other people.Essentially, emotive function is the communications to express the speaker feelings.

After analyzing language functions we can learn the definition of language functions itself and also know the types of language functions. Understanding language functions can help us to analyze every utterances has been spoken by everyone and knowing what the function of the utterances. Learning language functions we can know about the condition and feeling from speaker utterances. It is also can give imagine of the speaker condition and also we can guess the background of the speaker.

So, if we do not understand about language functions, we will difficult to understand the speaker condition and also the speaker feeling. Study about language especially language functions is important, because we can learn about the function of language itself

B. Suggestion

In this part, the researcher would give some suggestions which may give help for the students and future researcher. The researcher hopes that this study would give advantages and knowledge for students to understand one aspect of linguistic, especially language functions. For the students who want to study about language functions in movie or others, they should require their analysis with the context of the situation in the utterances because it is significant in studying language. For future the researcher who are interested in studying language, not only spoken utterances in movie but also they can use other media such as newspaper, radio and analyze spoken program on television and also use native speakers as subject because the conversation will be more realistic. For topic of conversation, they could use politic, economy, law or human problems. The researcher expects that the future researchers will analyze language functions in all categories, conative function, emotive function, phatic function, poetic function, referential function and metalingualfunction.

Based on this study, the researcher hopes to the readers and the other researcher that this study will be useful for future improvement of language study basically language functions used in a movie, especially in English Department Faculty of Education State Collage for Islamic Studies (STAIN) Kediri.