

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

After conducting the research, doing the analysis, and presenting the result, the writer will present the conclusion and suggestion of this study in this last chapter.

A. Conclusion

Workbook “Easy to English” has been published by English teacher’s Forum of MTs N Kab. Kediri. It was published by Inti Perkasa in 2013. This workbook includes all level. They are seventh, eighth and ninth grade. The writer focuses on these workbooks. It consists of lessons and exercises. In English workbook, the writer team should consider about grammar because it is an important thing in producing English text. Unfortunately, many of writer team do not consider about the grammar that is why the writer does this research in order to know the correctness of this workbook

Therefore this study is about analysis on grammatical error in English workbook Easy to English issued in 2013. The analyzing of grammatical errors in this study based on surface strategy taxonomy. The classifications of errors are error of omission, error of misformation, error of addition, error of misordering. This study is aimed to know about the grammatical errors in the English Workbook Easy to English. Based on the findings, the English workbook Easy to English period 2013 has 46 errors. The first rank is error of omission. It is for about 20 (43.5%) errors. The second error is error of addition for about 14 (30.5%) errors. The third rank is error of misformation for about 12 (26 %) errors. In this workbook, the error of misordering is not found.

Based on the data analysis above, the researcher found that the sources of errors are caused by intralingual error and interlingual errors which include overgeneralizations, incomplete application, and false concept. The researcher found that the error of omission is caused by incomplete application, error of addition caused by overgeneralization, error of misformation caused by false hypothesis.

B. Suggestion

Suggestion becomes the important thing when we want to make something better. Based on the finding, analyzing, interpretation and conclusions. Suggestions can be recommended to the writers of the English workbook, publisher and for the next researcher.

1. Grammar is the important thing in English text. The writer of the English workbook Easy to English should be more careful. They have to know about the grammatical structure of the target language (English) because the grammar of Indonesia has different system of grammar. They can consult to grammarian to recheck their grammar in workbook easy to English

2. The publisher has to reread the workbook Easy to English when they will be published. The publisher should make the workbook Easy to English better especially on grammar by giving confirmation to the workbook's writer so there will be no misunderstanding in construct of sentence.
3. Hopefully for the next researchers who want to investigate the same field as this study , they can fill the gap and lack of this study especially on grammar.
4. The teachers have to aware of error and they can correct directly to the error. They should also be careful in the use of workbook.
