ABSTRACT

Neny, Eka Ardhita Yulisti. 2013. The Effectiveness of Teaching Listening Using Song to the First Grade Students of SMA Negeri 1 Gurah On Periode 2012/2013. English Department, Faculty of Education, State Collage for Islamic Studies (STAIN) Kediri. Advisor 1) Dr. Mukhammad Abdullah. M.Ag. 2) Drs. H. Nur Akhlis. M.Pd.

Keywords: Teaching, Listening, Teaching Listening and Song.

Teaching is the process of delivering the material to add the students' understanding to the project by using the media and others to suggest. Listening is a very important part of learning English. The importance of listening in language teaching can hardly be overestimated. Through reception, we internalize linguistic information without which we could not produce language. Then it is important to the teacher to mastery the method of teaching. The researcher use Song for teaching listening to improve the students' listening ability. Because in this modern era song has been the famous art which is used for many things, such as teaching and therapy

This research used quasi-experimental quantitative design. The number of the sample is 72 students who are the first grade students of SMAN 1 Gurah. The technique of collecting data is a test. Test is used to measure the students' achievement in listening. To find out the significant difference between the experimental group and control group the researcher used the formula of t test.

From the result of the data analysis mentioned, we find that t-test is 2,53 at the degree of freedom (df) 70 at 0,05 alpha (1,67). It means that the t-test is higher than the t-table ($2,53 > 1,67$). So, the hypothesis that "teaching listening using song is improving the listening skills of the students" can be accepted.
