ABSTRACT

Meiningsih, 2013. An Analysis of the Best English Department Students' Theses of STAIN Kediri through Methodological View Thesis, English Department, undergraduate program, State College for Islamic Studies (STAIN) Kediri. Advisors: (1) H. Fathor Rasyid, M.Pd., (2) Burhanudin Syaifulloh, M. Ed.

Key Words: Analysis, English Department, Theses.

Writing good thesis really needs a high motivation. Everyone has the same chance to have a good thesis, so that STAIN Kediri's lecturers have rewarded their students who produced good theses. Therefore, she purposed to get the description about the rerserch method quality that can be reached by the English Department students of STAIN Kediri in writing a thesis report. The researcher took the best theses as her research subject. For that reason, the researcher used Qualitative Descriptive Evaluation approach to get the objectives of her study. She used instrument named checklist to give adjustment about the theses report quality. And the result of this study is that the quality level of the research method written on the thesis report of English Department students is "not applicable". This level shows that most of the points required in research method are not applicable. Moreover, the applications of the research method in these theses are not appropriate because there are some points in research method (chapter III) that are not placed in correct points and lack of explanations.
