

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the analysis that has been done, the researcher finds that the film consists of many signs, and the signs that appear are many load message. And the messages conveyed in the film will shape people's perceptions of what is conveyed in the film, and everyone's perception is also different. With analyzing films using semiotic analysis, there are many signs contained in the Wall-E movie can be uncovered.

Because this film is dominated by robots and the characters in this film are also robots, only a little dialogue comes out. even so this film has a moral message that we can take, such as the earth is full of trash and no trees grow, indicating no concern for environmental cleanliness and natural preservation, the moral message that can be taken is that we must keep the environment clean and preserve nature to keep the earth clean and for the survival of all living things. We must always preserve nature, it is our obligation to preserve nature because by preserving nature we are the same as protecting the earth. We as humans also need nature to survive and nature also needs humans to maintain and protect its sustainability.

The film Wall-E gives us a moral message that we should not be complacent with technological advances. In the film, people can be seen interacting using the communication tools that have been provided in their hover chairs, even though they are lined up, this proves that technological progress also has a bad impact on humans if we are not wise in using it. People are fat because they never move or exercise because they have been spoiled by technology. So we have to be wise in responding to technological advances so that it doesn't have a bad impact like the example above

B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusions drawn by researchers from the results of research on the semiotic analysis of moral messages in the animated film Wall-E, there are several suggestions that the researcher wants to convey, as for the suggestions that the researcher wants conveyed are:

1. It is recommended for the public to be wiser in choosing films to watch, because films are also mass media that can influence the audience, if the film you watch contains good things, then the film will have a positive impact on the audience, and if the film contains good things. If something is not good, it will have a bad impact on the audience.
2. For filmmakers, they should provide moral messages and positive things in making films, so that they have a positive impact on the audience.
3. For adults it is recommended to watch animated films too, because animated films are not always for children, there are also many moral messages that can be taken from animated films
