ABSTRACT

Adawiyah, Siti Robi'atul. 2016. The Students' Perception on Computer-Based National Examination. State College for Islamic Studies (STAIN) Kediri, Faculty of Education, English Department, Advisors: 1) Dr. H. Fathor Rasyid, M. Pd. 2) Dr. Toyyibah, SS.,M. Pd.

Key Words: Perception, Computer-Based Test, National Examination

Computer-Based Test is the newest evaluation system in Indonesia. Started in 2015, it was used for High Schools level education in Indonesia. The Ministry of Education and Culture in Indonesia believes that this new system is the best way to develop Indonesian education. However, the main doer in this new system is the students, so their perception on the implementation of Computer Based National examination is worth observing.

This study is aimed at describing students' perception on Computer-Based on National Examination for Junior High School students. Fifty-eight of ninth grade students in Junior High School 2 Kediri had taken a part in this study. The research design of this research is descriptive quantitative in form of survey research. The research instrument of this research is half-open form questionnaires. Upon obtaining the whole data needed, the researcher used Microsoft Excel 2010 to calculate the data. Ms. Excel is used to get further insight of each variable by computing the mean and the percentage of each data.

The result of this research revealed that the use of Computer-Based National Examination in Islamic Junior High Schools 2 Kediri was reputed success. The result indicated that positive responses were given for the students' general view subscale. Most of the students agreed and have positive responses toward CBNE been used as the evaluation system in Indonesia. Regarding with the research finding, most of the students agreed that the implementation of the CBNE in Islamic Junior High School is categorized success. They have prepared well for the CBNE.
