

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter summarize the result and discussion on chapter IV and propose some possible suggestion, which are the researcher has been explain about the theory of metaphorical expressions in poems and applying to analyzed a poem.

A. Conclusion

According to analysis in previous chapter, the researcher finds some metaphors in both four of kahlil Gibran's poems. Finally the researcher gives a conclusion that explained below. After paraphrasing kahlil Gibran's poems with the title "The Prophet", "A lover's call", "A Tears and A Smile", and "Song Of The Rains" the researcher found some symbols.

The first poem is A Lover's call, this poem tells about true love, which is Love means God. The wonderfull soul, love has glorry that nothing can match, love is beyound the bounds of mortal body and mind. It is eternal as the soul. The selfiess nature of love makes it comparable to God. The poet has used many simile and metaphors to explain his love for his beloved who has been separated by death from him. He has tried to express his longing to get back his beloved. A lover call seeks the love's presence even when he/she is not with her/ him.

The second poem is Song Of The Rains, this poem tells about autobiography of the rain and the speaker of the poem is the rain. Rain described something divine and characteristic of Gods. Rains says that he comes from Gods and he was like a beautiful pearl plugged from beautiful crown of Ishtar to purify her garden. The rain's tears bring laughter to the hills and his modesty brings joy to the flower, and his bow brings delight to every member of the natural world. His affections is the reason of every laugh of the hills, and valleys.

The third poem is A tear and A Smile, this poem tells the story of kahlil Gibran as the first writer. And in this poem the writer would like to tell that a tear and smile is two kinds of important things in his life. He don't want to change the bad or sad things that has happened in his life, to be happy events, he wants to stay like it is with pain and happiness, he doesn't want all good easy life nor all bad tough life. He belifes that tears can purified the heart and can brings him closer to God, and with the smile as a signal, that he has learned lesson in life of pain.

The fourth poem is The Prophet, in this poem tells about the prophet who has a strong faith full on what he believe, and he change the world by his quiet revolutions. he take the place inside everybody heart. He sees every problems and solve it by his different way, slowly he finally change the world. He whispered in every soul by his affections, even toughs he got so many rejections, but finally he did open those eyes by his affections.

And the metaphorical expressions in A lover's Call are abstract, cosmos, energy, substance, terrestrial, object, living, and human. In A Tear And Smile are substance, human, living, abstract, cosmos, energy, and terrestrial. And the metaphors in Song Of The Rain are abstract, energy, substance, terrestrial, object, living, and human. And The metaphors in The Prophet are abstract, object, and human.

B. Suggestion

According to research and discussion above, the researcher wants to give some suggestion to composers, readers, and society. Hopefully these suggestions can be useful for people who like the literature and the literary education. All people have done a good job, by get advice, the works will be better.

1. The suggestion for the reader

The suggestion to the readers is how to write a good poem. If the reader wants to write a poem because you want to capture a feeling that you experienced, then you do not need any tips, just write the feels right. Only you experienced the feeling that you want to express. Because only you knows whether your poems succeed. But if the readers goal is to communicate with a reader, drawing on your established (conventions that will be familiar to the expressed reader) to generate an emotional responses in your reader then simply writing what feels right to you will not be enough.

2. The suggestion for the next researcher

The suggestion for the next research is the researchers are expected to analyze poem be better, by more specific issues and have influence with the beauty of poetry. In analyzing poetry choose poems that have high quality, contains many figures of speech and moral values.
