From the correlation parental involvement and students' English learning achievement is low or weak.

B. Suggestion

Based on the research findings the researcher may give suggestions to all parties

1. For the parents

They should realize that they are the first educators who provides educational environment for their children, they should get involved in their children' English learning as a foreign language, they should take any active participations in supporting their children' English achievement by involving themselves in their children' English learning especially at home.

2. For the teachers

Because the school is an educational institution after the family should pay attention to the development of students, especially those who have low achievement or have difficulties in English learning.

3. For the students,

Don't be afraid to communicate, both with parents and teachers, express your problems and feelings. Because educators will guide their students towards maturity. More importantly, keep trying to be able to improve your achievements especially in English.

4. For the future researchers,

Since this research has limitation in time and financial, thus, there is a need to make future research in the same topic. And to add specification, such as parents' gender or parents' education to make the research more insightful.
