ABSTRACT

Nufus, Fitrotun. 2015. The Effectiveness of Applying English Poems in Teaching Reading for The First Graders at SMA Dr. Musta'in Romly Lamongan. Advisor 1. Dr. Fathor Rasyid, M. Pd. and Advisor 2. Dra. Nurul Ain, M. Pd., English Department, Faculty of Education, State College for Islamic Studies (STAIN) Kediri.

Key Word: Reading Achievement, English Poems.

Learning reading is very important for us, because reading can increase our knowledge and with reading we can know the world. Reading is very important but the students still difficult to master it, the researcher try to find a media to increase their reading skill. The researcher tries to use English poem to increase the student comprehension in context. According to the explanation above, the objective of this study is to know whether the students taught by applying English poem get better reading achievement than the student that do not taught by applying English poem. The subject of the study is the students at the first grade of SMA Dr. Musta'in Romly Lamongan.

To get the answer of the problem of the study, this study use quasy-experimental design. The quasi-experimental design used because in this study the researcher do not random the students. The researcher just chooses two classes that have the same level in every factor. The treatment of English poems will be given for experimental group that is X-A, and control group that is X-B do not get the treatment. The researcher will compare them and try to find the differences both of them. To compare it the researcher used test, those are pre-test and post-test. Giving pre-test is to know the students ability before the treatment and post-test is to know the students achievement after the treatment.

The distribution of the data in the research is normal. It can be proven by the result of Kolmogorov-Smirnov test showed that significant value is 0.338 it's bigger than 0.05. The Levene's Test showed that the significant value is 0.292 its bigger than 0.05. So, we can conclude that the variance of experiment and control group is equal across group. The homogeneity Regression test showed that there was no interaction between covariate and fixed factor. It was proven by the result is 0.132 its bigger than 0.05. The last assumption is the hypothesis test. It can be proven by the result of significant value that is 0.001 it's smaller than 0.05 so we can reject the null hypothesis and accept the alternative hypothesis. And the conclusion is poems were effective for teaching reading according to this research.
