CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter aims to state the result of the analysis of this study, it includes both conclusion and suggestion.

A. Conclusion

In this study, the researcher has analyzed the main character's personality in The Pursuit of Happyness movie and the factors that influence the personality itself.

The researcher found five types of personality of the main character based on the "Big Five" theory by Paul Costa and Robert McCrae. They are openness, conscientiousness, extraversion, agreeableness, and neuroticism. The researcher found 28 data. There are 4 openness personalities, 7 conscientiousness personalities, 3 extraversion personalities, 3 agreeableness personalities, and 11 neuroticism personalities.

The researcher also found the factors that influence the personality of the main character, Chris Gardner. The factors consist of the internal factor (endogen) and external factor (hexogen). The internal factors consist of the heredity features relating to physic that cannot be found by the researcher, the psychological features relating to physical state (temperament), and the heredity features of the character. The external factors consist of the family of the main character, the job of the main character, and the environment around the main character.

B. Suggestion

The researcher has done to analyze the main character's personality in The Pursuit of Happyness movie and the factors that influence the personality itself. Based on the conclusion, there are several suggestions addressed to the literature students, readers, and further researchers.

1. For the Literature Students

For the literature students, they should pay attention to the teaching of literature because in the world of education, literature has a very important role in personality formation and self-quality development to be able to become better individual.

2. For the Readers

For the readers, they are expected to get important information about the personality of the main character in The Pursuit of Happyness movie, both positive and negative. In addition, the readers are also expected to be able to imitate the positive personalities to be applied in daily life and make the negative personalities as a warning or reflection so that the readers do not imitate it.

3. For the further Researchers

For the further researchers, analyzing the character's personality, especially in a movie, is a pretty tough job. Therefore, proper preparation, understanding, and thoroughness are needed to obtain good results and in-depth understanding. So, for the readers who are going to analyze the personality of a character, they should choose the right personality theory and know how the theory is applied.
