

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclusion of the study and provides some suggestions based on the findings.

A. CONCLUSION

Based on the observations and interviews, the results show that the students' interest in speaking in the English club program can be described in relation to emotions such as enjoying, curious, paying attention, and feeling free to speak English comfortably. This is evidenced by data from interviewing the students about their interest and perception and observation as well. The students can speak more comfortably. They are happy when English club program comes because of the many experiences they gain in joining the English club program. The students need a supportive environment to practice speaking English, so they are not afraid to speak English for others. They have friends who can be invited to work together in learning and supporting each other. In brief, most students are interested in speaking in the English club program.

B. SUGGESTION

1. For the Students

The English Club Program is a way to create a safe environment. speaking environment. means that students should be more practice speaking consciously, comfortably, and positively. We have a daily program in English. There are many other benefits students get from following the rules. Expand your vocabulary and understand grammar

It trains daily life, student discipline, and responsibility, etc.

2. For the Committee

The English Club Program is a good program for students practice speaking English, as the committee should awareness of her surroundings while computing so she can please control well. The Committee may add dates for the English Club Program. It will be more effective and students will get used to speaking English. So the committee should courageously and clearly give one punish students who do not speak English club program.

3. For the Further Researcher
