

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this last chapter, there are two parts are explained, conclusion and suggestion. The conclusion is explained based on the research finding and discussion above. Then, the suggestion is to lead the further researcher on the same field.

A. Conclusion

The researcher analyzed the main characters and plot of the novel "Love from A to Z" by S.K. Ali. The story follows two main characters, Zayneb Malik and Adam Chen, as they navigate their lives and find unexpected love. Zayneb is characterized by her beliefs, determination, passion for writing, courage, empathy, growth, hope, and self-reflection. Adam is described as altruistic, intelligent, reserved, romantic, determined, conflict-resilient, and on a journey of self-discovery.

The plot of the novel revolves around the budding romance between Zayneb and Adam, who meet by chance in an airport. They both face personal challenges and societal issues like discrimination and Islamophobia. The plot incorporates various subplots and conflicts, exploring the themes of love, friendship, identity, and social justice. It incorporates elements of serendipity and fate as the characters navigate their emotions and encounter obstacles.

The main characters, Zayneb and Adam, are complex and relatable individuals. Zayneb questions injustice and fights for her beliefs, showing determination and resilience. Adam, dealing with personal loss, demonstrates vulnerability and growth as he opens himself up to love. Both characters undergo significant development throughout the novel, contributing to the exploration of themes and emotional depth.

The well-constructed plot and compelling characters contribute to the novel's success. The plot provides a compelling narrative structure, filled with tension, emotional engagement, and thematic exploration. The main characters drive the story forward and allow readers to connect with their struggles and triumphs.

The researcher identifies the plot as a dramatic or chronological plot, as events unfold in a chronological sequence without connection to the past. The plot diagram reveals an exposition, rising action, climax, falling action, and denouement. The plot is considered closed, as all conflicts are resolved, leading to some form of order.

B. Suggestion

After doing an analysis of the novel Love from A to Z, the researcher suggests for the next writers, especially who those are interested in analyzing the plot and main character of the story (novel, drama, short story, etc); the next researchers can compare Love from A to Z novel with the other novel, it is good to know what is the contribution main character to the plot, and how to know the structure of a plot built to the story.

Additionally, the next researchers can continue this research by focusing on conflict or finding characterization from the main characters in the story. On the other hand, this research can be the reference for the next researcher in analyzing novels, especially in analyzing the contribution the main character built to the plot of the story. The researcher hopes that this research is very helpful for the next researcher who wants to analyze novels using Henry James' theory.

While to the students, teacher, lectures, English Department students, public speaker and who is reading this research analyze, this research analyze can be a reference to strengthen the theory and examples about plot and characters according to Henry James theory.
